Dear Roswell Community,

Many of you may know that Roswell Assistant Principal Jim Coyle has announced his retirement from Roswell High School. In addition to his over 20 years of service as a teacher, coach, and administrator at Roswell High School, Mr. Coyle is also a retired Army veteran. Mr. Coyle leaves behind a tremendous legacy of supporting the entire Roswell community. Personally, I am grateful for his support and friendship over the last two years.

I am excited to announce that, during their meeting on May 7, 2019, the Fulton County School Board approved the recommendation to promote Roswell teacher Joshua Martin to the position of Assistant Principal at Roswell.

Our community is aware of Mr. Martin's work ethic and dedication to all our school's stakeholders as he has been a Roswell High School Social Studies teacher since 2013. In recommending Mr. Martin as the new Assistant Principal for Roswell, it is my belief that he brings to this challenging position the character and skills needed to effectively serve the Roswell community.

Before coming to Roswell in 2013, Mr. Martin taught social studies and coached numerous sports at Douglas County's Alexander High School and New Manchester High School. As a result of his success, he has achieved several honors including being named the 2015 Roswell High School Teacher of the Year, the recipient of the dedication of the Roswell High School Yearbook, and the 2013 STAR teacher at New Manchester High School.

Mr. Martin earned his Bachelor of Science in Social Studies Education from Berry College. He went on to earn his Master of Education in Educational Leadership and his Specialist in Educational Leadership, both from Kennesaw State University.

Congratulations to Mr. Martin! I look forward to continuing to work with him as we serve the entire Roswell High School community.

Sincerely,

Robert
